SHAME ON YOU

Ali family's message to sacked cops who have 'scarred' Faruk

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE brother of an autistic man who was chased by two Bedfordshire Police officers has told how his brother has been left traumatised.

PCs Christopher Thomas and Christopher Pitts were this week sacked by the force following a public disciplinary hearing held at Wyboston Lakes, relating to the incident in Whitby Road, Luton, in February 2014.

The family alleged that Faruk Ali was bundled into bins by the pair and was then punched by Mr Thomas.

Shocking footage from a police car dash cam has been released this week, which showed the pair laughing at Mr Ali – who has a mental age of five – before they chased him.

Mr Pitts and Mr Thomas were found not guilty of misconduct in a public office at a trial in December 2014, at Aylesbury Crown Court, while Mr Thomas was also found not guilty of racially aggravated assault.

But Leicestershire Police found they had a case to answer, and the pair were found to have breached standards of professional conduct.

Faruk's brother Dhobir Ali, said: "The act they committed was disgusting and it has left Faruk traumatised, even now."

"There's still a noticeable difference between how he acted before the incident and now, there's a noticeable scar which will take some time for him to recover from."

"I still get angry when watching the footage and I think everyone needs to see it to make up their mind about what happened."

Bedfordshire Police say that they had a due process to follow and could not act to remove the two officers from their post any SKY HIGH: This week, Dave Wood spotted a red kite in the skies above Dunstable Downs. The bird went extinct in the 1870s but Bedfordshire has been a hot spot since they were reintroduced in the 1990s.

Editor's Letter

No cop going to the voting booth clueless

YET again Bedfordshire Police officers are making headlines.

A few weeks ago, we brought you fantastic stories of courageous and hardworking men and women honoured at the force's annual awards do.

This week, we bring you news two officers have been sacked for gross misconduct in a case which has attracted national media attention for the past two years.

Never has it been more important for the public to have their say about the future of our police force and the person responsible for watching over it.

Next month, the county will decide on its next Police and Crime Commissioner. Whether you agree with the role or not, it exists. Unless you get down to your polling station on May 5, you will not get to have a say about the man or woman at the top.

Together with sister title Bedfordshire on Sunday, LoS will be holding a debate for PCC candidates on April 25. Join us to hear answers to YOUR questions. Visit luton-dunstable.co.uk to find out how to get involved. We hope to see you there.

'Brute' is jailed for revenge porn attack on ex-girlfriend

BY STEPHEN PENN
stephen.penn@bedsonsunday.com

A CONTROLLING former boyfriend who posted revenge porn films and photos on social media of the girl who broke up with him, has been jailed.

Hassan Azam of Shelley Road, Luton, was described as a 'nasty bully' by a crown court judge who heard the spurned lover lied to his former girlfriend's colleagues about her having a baby 'sucked out of her' and warned she would end up missing. He went on to post a video of him and his ex having sex on Facebook and posted images on an Instagram account set up to fool people into thinking it was hers.

The revenge porn postings were made while Azam was out on bail as detectives looked into the allegations against him.

The judge blasted the officers who agreed to free Azam on bail, telling him he should never have been freed to commit the offences.

Azam's lawyer, David Smith, admitted there was 'very little to mitigate the severity of the offences'.

He said: "The relationship turned sour and it is quite clear the complainant did not want to be in a relationship with the defendant, which the defendant could not accept."

Azam, 20, was jailed for 28 months after admitting stalking the girl, intending to harass her and posting sexually explicit images of her online without her consent.

Passing sentence at Aylesbury

Crown Court, Judge Francis Sheridan told Azam: "Your record shows you are simply a brute. That's what it comes down to."

"You have picked on a previous girlfriend, when you were sentenced to a very moderate term for pursuing a course of conduct amounting to harassment. You are just a bully - and a nasty one at that."

Azam was also made the subject of a restraining order banning him from being within 25 metres of his victim and contacting her in any way.

William gets handed a 'life-changing' chance

NEW FREEDOM: The new hand allows William to grip a pen and give his mum a fist bump (below)

BY NICK SMITH
nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

RADICAL research is set to change a boy's life.

Eight-year-old William Joyner was born without a left hand as a result of amniotic band syndrome but a fully functional prosthetic – designed and developed by experts at University of Bedfordshire – is months away.

While William dreams of being a professional footballer, his mother Jo, from Paulerspury in Northants, feels this will help him not only towards his goal but in every aspect of his life.

She said: "It will be completely life-changing, it will allow him to strengthen en his entire body and also make everyday tasks that much easier.

To say he's excited is an understatement and everyone at his school is as well, they keep asking when he will be getting it."

The hand has been designed in a way so that William can make it grip through arm movements. The project, funded entirely by the University, has been carried out at the Luton campus by staff members David Jazani and Mark Hooper, utilising 3D printers.

Mr Jazani said: "It allows us to use computer aided design, which gives us a better idea of what ball park we're in to make sure it fits and functions as we want it to."

Mr Jazani says William will be able to take a more durable hand home in around five months after it has been built.

New chapter for teenage football carer

A TEENAGER who spent a large part of his childhood as a young carer is one step closer to his dream of becoming a footballer.

Former Luton Town centre-back Lewis Lodge, 16, who now plays for Stevenage FC and Crystal Palace, will continue his development thanks to the financial support of Bedford charity Sports Traider run by ex-basketball player Lance Haggith.

Ten years ago Lewis' mum Louise was involved in a car accident which left her having to rely on Lewis to take care of her and his younger siblings Taylor, 15, and Harmony, 10.

At the age 11 Lewis was asked to play for Luton but he could not afford the expenses. Mum Louise got in touch with Lance after he met Lewis at a club for young carers. Lance agreed to help fund Lewis and pay for his travel to training. Both Louise and Lewis said they were 'grateful' for the help they have received from Sports Traider.

Lewis said: "This money has enabled me to play and if it wasn't for that, I wouldn't be able to play. It's allowed me to push on."

Lance said he was 'chuffed' and 'pleased' to see Lewis progressing.

HIGH HOPES: Louise and Lewis

Are you suffering from back pain, arm or leg pain, numbness, tingling, or weakness in your arms or legs? Then it's likely you're suffering from DISComfort. That's when one of your spinal discs is bulging or herniated and causing these, sometimes severe, symptoms because of the effect the disc is having on your nerve system.

You may have already had this diagnosed on an MRI and thought that there is little that can be done about it and that's a major problem: bad information, because in the right hands a lot can be done for you. To end the misery caused by bad spinal discs you must have the right information. Pay close attention because I'm going to destroy some important myths and give you the facts.

MYTH: DISC problems will just "go away" with some rest.

FACT: If you are dealing with back pain, buttock pain or leg pain, then you must seek help from a DISC specialist immediately. Left untreated, DISC problems can lead to permanent nerve damage - and lifelong pain.

MYTH: Pain is the only problem associated with DISC problems.

FACT: In severe cases, DISC problems can lead to the inability to control your bowels, bladder and sexual potency - leading to embarrassing situations.

MYTH: You must take pain medications to deal with bad DISCs.

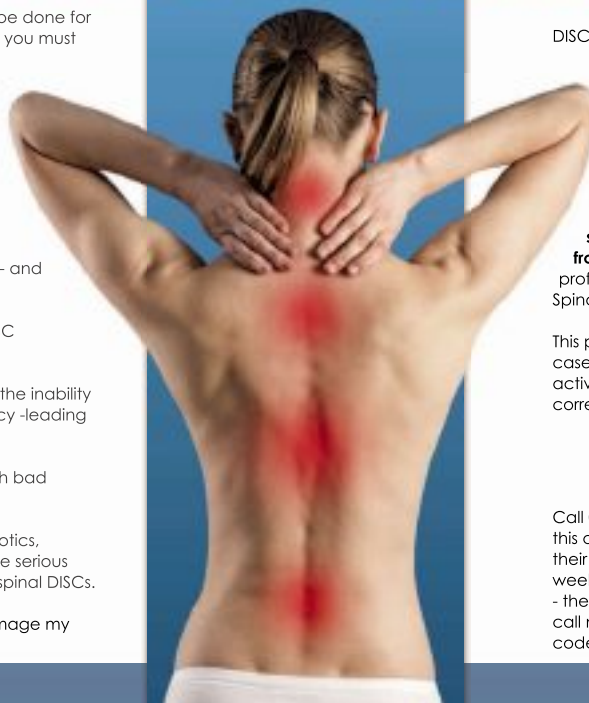

FACT: Drugs like muscle relaxants, pain killers, narcotics, antidepressants, and anti-seizure medications have serious potential side-effects and do not cure damaged spinal DISCs.

MYTH: "I must have done something wrong to damage my DISC."

a way to get rid of

DISComfort

FACT: Physical work or simply sitting at a desk for long periods can lead to weakened DISCs. Accidents and trauma can also be the culprits. Pregnancy can cause damage. DISC damage can happen to anyone - including super-fit celebrities like Tiger Woods, Sylvester Stallone, and British Olympic medalist Ian Wynne

MYTH: "There's nothing anyone can really do. I'm just stuck with this for the rest of my life."

FACT: With the correct treatment from a healthcare professional who specialises in DISC problems, you can find relief from the core cause - and the symptoms.

Peter Olsson - Spinal DISC Expert in Bedford at Atlas Wellness Centre

Peter Olsson is one of the UK's leading spinal care experts. Peter (the clinical leader at Atlas Wellness Centre) and his team of fully-trained spinal care specialists have helped over 4,026 patients find relief from agonising DISC problems. He's one of the first professionals in the UK to use Non-Surgical Re-Constructive Spinal Care.

This procedure does not require a hospital stay and in most cases you'll be able to continue with your normal daily activities with little interruption. The focus is on finding - and correcting - the original cause of the damaged DISC.

Take the Next Step - END the Suffering...
Initial Consultation Just £49

Call 01234 340 317 to schedule your appointment. Mention this article (CODE: TC43DISM3h) and Atlas will happily reduce their usual consultation fee of £245 to just £49! Forced marriages masked by 'taboo'

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

UNDER-REPORTING is hiding the true number of forced marriage victims, the head of a local charity has said.

Melanie Skyers, chief executive of Luton All Women's Centre, said the 'taboo' surrounding the subject prevented some men and women from speaking out.

Her comments follow revelations earlier this week by The Mirror that between 2010-2015, the courts granted 131 orders protecting people in Luton who either were in a forced marriage, felt threatened with one or knew someone who might have been in one.

In 2013, a forced marriage case in the town involving a 16-year-old girl made national headlines when it emerged that the teenager had been forced to marry a man she said she had only met once.

Ms Skyers said: "We know that the number of forced marriage cases has not really decreased.

"We have just had figures from Bedfordshire Police in the last year which show they have had 190 cases across the county and we have had 52 cases, so that is a significant number."

Ms Skyers also said the nature of issues such as domestic violence and forced marriage meant official statistics only showed just 'the tip of the iceberg'.

She added: "It is a huge issue and it is damaging when young people have had to flee from their families.

"It leaves a long lasting legacy and they cannot have that normal relationship with their family.

"Our charity not only goes to give talks to young people but we also get them help.

"We deal with crisis cases with people at risk of honour based violence or forced marriage and they are having to leave Luton."

Council looking into ways to deal with travellers

PLANS to make areas harder for travellers to access are being drawn up by a council.

This follows multiple reports of camps appearing across Central Bedfordshire over the past week.

A large group of around 20 caravans parked up on the site of the former Dunstable Magistrates Court on Wednesday (pictured inset). By Friday morning they had disappeared – leaving behind piles of rubbish – but another camp sprung up on Dunstable Downs (main picture).

Central Beds Council said they are looking into possibilities to prevent further moves around the county.

One member of the travelling community told a BBC reporter they wanted a permanent site, or the problem would continue.

A spokesman for CBC said: "We are actively considering measures to make access more difficult to areas, such as certain locations in Dunstable town centre, where we are experiencing issues with multiple illegal encampments."

'Invest in young' to stop nuisance

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE re-introduction of youth projects could help reduce the number of nuisance bikers, the owner of a tutoring firm has said.

Karl Weaver, from KWS Educational Services in Luton, said a lack of funding for youth activities meant illegal bikers would continue being an 'on-going problem'.

In 2010 Mr Weaver ran a Central Bedfordshire

Council-funded project teaching young people mechanical skills but it was cut due to a lack of money.

Last Tuesday, 15-year-old Brandon Arnold died following a motorbike collision in Marsh Farm and in the wake of his death residents have voiced concerns over young people's use of bikes.

Mr Weaver said: "Until you invest some money into young people, it is going to be an on-going thing."

"Our project worked and it stopped anti-social behaviour and illegal riding on the street. It was not 100 per cent but in the area we worked in there was a reduction."

A Central Bedfordshire spokesman said: "We accept that tackling nuisance motorcycles will involve a range of measures which may include community projects, awareness raising and enforcement."

He added that the council would 'continually review' its schemes and options.

TRIBUTES: A full inquest will take place on October 11

Inquest opens into teen biker's death

AN inquest has been opened this week into the death of a teenager who lost control of a motorbike and collided with a lamppost.

Brandon 'Ajay' Arnold, 15, of Copenhagen Close, Luton, had not been wearing a helmet when he crashed in Denham Close, last Tuesday. The coroner's court heard that he had been riding the bike on the pavement in a residential area when the collision happened.

Cloudy2Clear Announce Trusted Trader Partnership

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

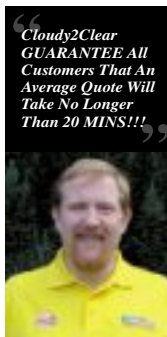

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? have endorsed Cloudy2Clear's long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. 'Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle.

Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Luton, Dunstable & Stevenage areas and manager

Tom Bliss agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Tom a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Kid's arena owner in wage delay row

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutonsunday.co.uk

THE former employees of a new children's play arena have accused its owner of not paying wages on time and 'unfairly' sacking staff.

Ex-staff from Kid 'n' Play in the Galaxy claim they have had to 'keep asking' owner Chima Martin for their full salaries following the arena's launch in January this year.

One former employee, who wishes to remain anonymous, said a number of people were not paid in full on the first pay day on February 29.

They said: "It feels like we came to help him out with his business and then at the end of the month he did not give us anything. You cannot do that to people and play tricks on some of the young members of staff."

Another said: "He gave us a verbal contract and when we spoke to him about written contracts he avoided it and tried not to do it."

Mr Martin said his business had employed over 20 people 'within the last three months' and was 'punctual' in paying wages.

He also said delays were due to staff not signing in and out of work properly.

He added: "My belief is that these allegations have been brought about by employees who have not worked hard enough to bring value to the business and therefore have been laid off."

Man jailed for series of historic sex offences

A PENSIONER is facing eight years behind bars after being found guilty of sexually abusing a child.

Raymond Lilley, 72, from Tottenham, indecently assaulted the young girl over a number of years in the 1990s, and was sentenced Thursday at Luton Crown Court.

Detective Constable Nadia Hussein, who investigated the case, said: "Lilley took advantage of his victim for a number of years, forcing abhorrent sexual abuse on her at an age when she was too young to understand what was happening. This case is an example of how we are committed to investigating any allegation of sexual abuse and that justice can still be done, even if the offences occurred several years ago.

"We hope this gives other people who may have been sexually abused in the past to come forward in the knowledge that they will be listened to and taken seriously, and it's not too late for action to be taken."

THE cost of limescale damage on your home appliances can be huge, not to mention the effects on your family's wellbeing. Take advantage of this exclusive EWT Package Offer and remove limescale from your home forever!

Each year the average hardwater home will use water containing 154lbs (70kg) of scale. This mountain of limescale can cause serious – and expensive – damage to your home plumbing and appliances, and your kitchen and bathroom fittings, too. The Carbon Trust estimates that just 1mm of limescale in pipes can increase your home energy consumption by 7%, representing a significant cost to the average family home.

Your household plumbing becomes increasingly inefficient, which makes heating your water expensive. For example, a boiler with just 5mm of scale takes an extra 4 hours to supply the average home's hot water – 90 minutes is all it should take!

The good news is that limescale can be permanently removed from your home quickly and easily, using a system that can pay for itself in the first 18 months. After that, the significant savings are yours to keep... year after year!

This 'best value' EWT Package provides everything you need to start making real, instant savings in your household budget and extends the life expectancy of those expensive home appliances.

DOZY PARKERS

Back again?

A CHEESED off resident in Rickyard Close, Stopsley, is the source of this week's dozy parker. According to our tipster, this red Ford KA is a 'regular visitor' to the area.

As the resident said to us in an e-mail, 'Why bother with parking between two cars on the other side of the road when it is so easy to use the pavement? After all, no-one actually WALKS anywhere any more do they?'

READALLOVER

OUR group of newspapers take pride in being accessible to all audiences so we were delighted to see this youngster reading a copy our sister paper, Bedfordshire on Sunday.

Baby Ralph Payne (who is nephew to Luton Borough Council's Sinead McNamara) is pictured here catching up on the news with dad Lewis. Clearly this little one is a toddler of good taste.

BLOGGER OF THE WEEK: Javeria Hussain

Fighting the good fight

THIS week Luton-based legal professional Javeria Hussain reflects on the recent visit to the town by retired Pakistani judge, Justice Nasira Iqbal. Mrs Iqbal came to Luton for International Women's Day and spent time talking to residents and officials.

I'm a proud Lutonian, born and bred. From the age of 10 I've been involved in local voluntary work ranging from community youth projects with Pakistan Kashmir Youth Forum to the exciting grassroots political campaigns in Luton South CLP.

I take pride in serving the local community in the spirit of humanity. Recently, I had the rare privilege of meeting one of South East Asia's distinguished and inspirational women, the eminent human rights lawyer, retired Justice Nasira Iqbal, as part of International Women's Day.

Justice Iqbal is the daughter-in-law of the revered internationally renowned poet-philosopher Sir Muhammad Iqbal (also known as 'Allama Iqbal'), the spiritual founder of Pakistan.

She was one of the first women appointed to the judiciary in 1994 and her spouse who passed away not so long ago was the former chief justice.

I found Justice Iqbal graceful, humble with boundless energy and intellectual prowess. It transpired that we are both feminists interested in human rights, justice and community services which at improve women's lives.

Justice Iqbal has pioneered several projects in Lahore that provide free legal advice, financial and educational services to impoverished women. She actively works on law reform campaigns for women's rights.

I am pleased Justice Iqbal visited Luton, a town that prides in its commitment towards women's rights and the integration and empowering women in the local community.

We are the first 'White Ribbon' town pledging to end violence against women and have local organisations dedicated to supporting disadvantaged women transform their lives.

A high proportion of the town's young females are in secondary and further education and they go on to become academic achievers, working women, bread winners and professionals.

Local women can be seen at the forefront of community cohesion, 'One Britain-One Nation' and faith dialogue, working hard to tackle extremism, promote British values, peace and love.

Given the recent tensions, this will become increasingly paramount in strengthening Luton's image as a united and tolerant town.

Luton Borough Council has a number of women, particularly ethnic minorities, holding senior public office and the leader, Cllr Hazel Simmons, is a role model.

During her visit, Justice Iqbal met two of the council's female executive members Cllrs Jacqueline Burnett and Naseem Ayub, to learn about local public services and women's initiatives.

There's still a way to go on the gender equality front but Justice Iqbal's message for the women of Luton was, "You inspire me. I am pleased to see the empowerment of women in Luton. We need to keep it up and integrate in the local community as responsible citizens."

Vote leave

I BELIEVE the people of Britain have the right of self determination and should be able to change the direction of a government via the ballot box.

The Courts of a Sovereign nation should be Supreme, a government of a country should put its people first, and finally that the age of European Empires need to come to an end.

If you believe as I do then you need to vote leave in the EU referendum Playing politics?

I AGREE with Cllr Siân Timoney that it's outrageous that the government won't give Govia Thameslink Rail a grant for urgent improvements to Luton train station.

What's their problem?

Under the Conservatives the national debt is currently rising by £5,170 per second, equivalent to £310,200 each minute.

This means that to fix the leaky roof and make the station accessible to the disabled, the £2.5 million required could be raised in just eight minutes and three seconds of borrowing.

Only a cynic would suggest that political bias played a part in the Tories' decisions to give funding for the station at St Albans (Conservative MP and council) and to refuse Luton (Labour MP and council).

I RECEIVED my voting forms yesterday and visited the website on said forms for info on candidates standing and surprise the site does not work and therefore no access to info?

Abandon ship

LAST week's blogger sets out to give the economic reasons for staying in Europe – but ultimately only tells us that some big company bosses would rather we stayed. He even cites Vauxhall as a supporter. Has he forgotten the thousands of jobs that Vauxhall's owners (GM) exported to Europe – FROM LUTON?

Nevertheless I had supported the European Dream with its promise of peace, economic stability and social development. But recent events have totally shattered the dream.

The banking crash was like the tide going out and exposing a very rocky beach.

Your blogger warns against using immigration as a reason to leave. Until recently I would have agreed. But what we're witnessing now is more than immigration – it's more like 'invasion' because vast numbers are importing a totally alien culture. More secure inside Europe? Recent events hardly support that, either. The sad truth is that Europeans still don't trust each.

Europe is facing existential economic, political and social problems which together will destroy its future prosperity and cohesion. Do we want to be part of that? Would remaining help prevent it? When David Cameron tried to get things changed recently, each country ignored the greater good and just fought their own selfish corner. Stalemate.

I'm no Nationalist but Europe is a very expensive, badly designed, poorly crewed, overcrowded and very leaky ship that could catch fire at any minute.

So I'll choose the lifeboat labelled 'Brexid'. It may be a leap in the dark but at least we have a chance that way.

Question marks over student housing plan

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

MORE student flats have been recommended for approval despite a university expressing concern about the oversupply of such accommodation.

Luton Borough Council want councillors to give the green light to a development made up of 230 student rooms and 24 flats in Cumberland Street.

However, in a document due to be discussed at a meeting on Wednesday, the University of Bedfordshire is said to have 'questioned the need for further accommodation' when it has experienced a decrease in demand.

The council has repeatedly stated it hopes such planning applications would help to 'free up much needed houses for families'.

Last December, the university's former director of facilities and estates Graham Blake wrote a letter to the authority warning that its approval of more student housing was based on 'flawed assumptions about the number of students in the town'.

A spokeswoman for the university said it always recommends students use housing 'approved by the university'.

She added: "The benefits of choosing university accommodation are great; students can live with other new students in secure conditions with trained security staff on site."

Farmland makes way

THIS week Howard Chandler looks at the history of Brache Farm. . .

EARLY 19th century maps show Luton as mostly farmland. In 1900 there were eight farms within a mile of the Town Hall and three times that number a little further beyond.

As the town and population grew, farms were replaced by houses. Brache Farm, off Park Street and owned by the Crawley family of Stockwood, was sold in the 1920s.

Alton Road was laid out on the site of the farmhouse. The word Alton (derived from Anglo Saxon) means 'farmstead at the source of the river', which is particularly appropriate as Brache Farm was close to the River Lea.

Jonathan Francis Seymour was the tenant farmer for the Crawley family from at least 1898 until it was sold, hence Seymour Road and Avenue. Osborne Road was known as Brache Road until 1902.

By 1904 the new name had been adopted, probably to honour straw hat manufacturer Charles Haddon Osborne, mayor of Luton in 1903 and 1931.

Second lead theft costs church £80k

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A CHURCH has been left with an £80,000 bill after being targeted by lead thieves twice in four months.

All Saints Church in Chalgrave Road, Chalgrave, had the lead stolen from its roof after midnight last Sunday.

It follows a similar incident on December 3 last year which left the congregation facing £40,000 repair costs.

Reverend Anne Crawford, the church rector, said the latest theft had left people 'extremely upset'.

She said the church would not be putting any lead back on the roof and was considering alternatives such as stainless steel.

Rev Crawford added: "It is all disappointing and discouraging and you also have the damage that has been done inside, so if it rains it gets wet."

"We have a funeral this week and it is not nice for people grieving to have to cope with this as well."

"We managed to raise a couple of thousand after the last theft but £40,000 is a lot

DEVASTATING: Reverend Anne Crawford said the families with loved ones buried in the graveyard felt it had been 'desecrated' to find and now we are looking at £80,000.

"That is a huge amount of money for a small congregation."

Rosie Cooper, a business administrator from Luton who helped raise £1,000 for the church last December and is due to marry fiancé Adam Webster there in July, described the latest theft as 'heart-breaking'.

She said: "I'm absolutely gutted, especially for the church because I know how much of a struggle it was going to be anyway."

"It's quite heartbreaking to know there are people who want to target an 800-year-old church."

Bedfordshire Police said they were investigating the theft and pursuing 'all lines of enquiry'.

Centres given more time to find funding

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

COMMUNITY centres have been handed a life-line after Luton Borough Council announced that they have until March next year to secure funding.

The facilities faced closure in July due to cuts being made to London Luton Airport Limited's community fund, but this extension would give campaigners time to make the services self-sufficient.

Kathryn Knights, who is leading the campaign to secure the future of the centres, said: "All the signs were there that they would give us more time and I'm really pleased that they have."

"It's a great success but it's very much the start of the journey."

Cllr David Franks, who along with fellow Barnfield Cllr Rachel Hopkins proposed the extension at an overview and scrutiny committee meeting last Wednesday said: "I'm going to be working closely with the Barnfield community and know colleagues are working with their wards. "We've been given an opportunity to get this sorted."

A spokesman for Luton Borough Council said: "Executive last night heard that local community groups have done a considerable amount of work towards keeping the Raynham Way and Bushmead community centres open."

"Much more work needs to be done and it is acknowledged that re-opening the centres after they have closed would be much more difficult than keeping them open now."

"Executive agreed to grant an extension of time until March 31, 2017 for these community groups to prepare a credible and viable business plan to take over running of the two community centres."

HARD WORK: Kathryn Knights has been campaigning to keep the centres open

Funeral firm makes plea to motorists

A FUNERAL directors is asking road users to 'show more consideration' for grieving families after some of its processions were overtaken by impatient drivers.

Michael Liddle, managing director of Neville Funeral Service in Marsh Road, said several of his funeral corteges had been overtaken by motorists rushing to their destination.

He said the issue has been a problem for 'several years' but was now happening more frequently.

He said: "Some people overtake the cortege when there's not enough room or they have tried to cut through at roundabouts. At times there's been people putting themselves, and us, at risk."

"It's just generally that everyone in the world seem to be busy and there's not a lot of time so they are not showing the respect that we would expect."

"This has been a problem for several years, it's not just happened now, but it seems to have happened a bit more recently and I don't know why."

"The families generally understand the situation and they don't mention it to us but they do sometimes say things like, 'it's a shame that someone could not wait for us'. I would ask drivers, if that was one of your loved ones, would you want them to be shown that lack of consideration?"

PCC candidates

OLLY MARTINS LABOUR

I worked to introduce 'Parish' Special Officers, dedicated to community policing and tasked with closely supporting the community watch schemes. To make our officers work even harder is not a solution. This cannot be a substitute for the 300 extra full-time officers the Chief Constable says we need to reach an adequate level, and which would enable the return of properly resourced neighbourhood policing in each part of the county.

THE countdown to the May 5 Police and Crime Commissioner election has begun. For the next three weeks we will be asking your candidates to respond to a different issue.

This week a network of farmers and rural business owners, CLA East, asked candidates how they will make fighting rural crime a priority.

It is vital that not only all crime is reported, but recorded, and action taken to deal with it.

If crime is not recorded it paints a false picture. If this false position is presented it weakens the case for additional funding.

If elected I will be seeking an increase in government funding to enable Bedfordshire Police to commit the resources to being a visible, proactive crime fighting force serving every community in Bedfordshire.

DUNCAN STRACHAN

I will consult all communities and organisations, including the CLA, to provide the best policing possible with the resources available.

LINDA JACK LIBERAL DEMOCRATS

The challenge for police to meet the needs in both rural and urban areas is exacerbated by the inexcusable underfunding of Bedfordshire. I will ask CLA and other organisations representing the people of Bedfordshire to support me in arguing for fairer funding. The best way to deal with crime is to stop it happening in the first place. I will work with others to look at positive ways to prevent both first time offending and re-offending.

TONI BUGLE ENGLISH DEMOCRAT

Our area is the hot bed of extremism yet receives the lowest funding of all police forces. We must prioritise counter extremism, sexual grooming and FGM (female genital mutilation). Hundreds of thousands of pounds have been wasted on exit packages for staff members but I will ensure every penny in the police budget is spent on front-line services. To enable us to achieve better policing in rural areas we must first have better funding.

I live in the North Bedfordshire countryside so I fully understand the oil tank and fuel thefts, fly-tipping, arson attacks and seizure of large-scale vehicles. As PCC I'll organise a Rural Crime Intelligence network of farmers and country residents working with both the CLA and National Farmers' Union. They will be offered regular liaison with both nominated Rural Specials - with full policing powers - and the support of warranted officers in a dedicated Rural Crime Network. We cannot hide behind the funding and thin blue line arguments any longer and ignore one sector of our population.

One hump or two?

ZOOKEEPERS at Whipsnade Zoo are celebrating the birth of a Bactrian camel.

The baby, named Pepper, was born to mum Gypsy on March 22 but has only now been seen in public.

Bactrian camels are usually found in parts of Asia, including China and Mongolia.

Unlike their relatives in the Middle East and Africa (the Dromedary camel), they have two humps, rather than one.

Flytippers strike again at hospice site

A HOSPICE which cares for terminally ill people has called on flytippers to stop dumping rubbish and blocking the entrance to their premises.

Liz Searle, chief executive of Keech Hospice, said flytippers risked preventing ambulances from coming to emergencies.

On Wednesday, rubbish was dumped along its entrance in Great Bramingham Lane, Streatley (pictured).

The hospice, which experienced a similar incident last May, said flytipping was an 'on-going problem'.

Ms Searle said: "It is a serious situation as it could prevent an ambulance from reaching the hospice.

"Flytipping anywhere is not good but it is especially horrible to see it on a lane that leads to a hospice which cares for children and adults with life limiting or terminal illnesses. "Visitors come here to see loved ones we care for and today this will have been the first thing they will have seen.

"It is not the welcoming message we would like for Keech Hospice Care. We hope the people who are dumping the rubbish realise what they are doing and stop."

Central Bedfordshire Council said it had recorded 12 incidents of flytipping since last May.

A spokeswoman said: "We take flytipping very seriously, patrol the area regularly and will prosecute all offenders where there is sufficient evidence."

Fatal nightclub punch was in 'self-defence'

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

A CLUBBER was killed by a single punch from the boyfriend of a barmaid he had just given his phone number to and said he was going to take home, a court heard on Thursday.

Tomas Juska, 24, had been told by Sarah Haynes that she was not interested in him, but he persisted telling her she was 'beautiful'.

He had been escorted out of Club Cookies nightclub in Dunstable by door staff in the early hours of August 23 last year, after a confrontation with her new boyfriend Courtney Batchelor.

Outside the club, Mr Juska was 'poleaxed' by Mr

Batchelor, who had allegedly said he would 'smash him'.

Mr Juska, who worked for Amazon, suffered a lethal brain injury and died the following day, Luton Crown Court was told.

Mr Batchelor, now 22, of Paisley Close, Luton, pleads not guilty to manslaughter at Luton Crown Court, saying he acted in self-defence.

'Long and hard road to victory' for Faruk

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

■ Continued from the front sooner. One of the leaders of the Luton 4 Justice campaign, solicitor Attiq Malik, said: "It's been a long and hard road which has resulted in an amazing victory."

"We need more families like Faruk's, but it could not have been done without the help and support of the Luton community."

Dhobir said he feels the incident has caused a dent in public confidence in Bedfordshire Police.

"The relationship between the police and my community is at its lowest ever," he said.

"It doesn't paint a good picture of the force and a lot of hard work has to be done to restore confidence."

Chief Constable Jon Boucher said: "I hope that the dismissal of the officers will provide some comfort for the family – who have been super throughout this incredibly difficult time and have my utmost respect and support."

JUSTICE: The family of Faruk Ali said they are relieved a stressful two years is over but the traumatic impact on him may be longer

"I understand some people will feel let down by the police, but the manner in which we have dealt with these officers should go some way to reassuring the public of how committed we are to policing the county in a professional and sensitive way and that we will not accept such behaviour from anyone in the force."

He added: "We are determined to recruit more officers and staff from our local diverse communities and build levels of trust and confidence that will be the envy of other parts of the country."

Dhobir also took time to express thanks to those who have supported the family since the incident, saying: "This would not have been possible without the support of like-minded people, so I just want to say thank you to everyone who supported us over the last two years."

POETRY

On a mission for the spoken word

X MARKS THE SPOT
 LIBRARY THEATRE
 MAY 7

WHEN 'X Marks The Spot' comes to Luton for a second time next month, there will be one person in the crowd hoping it will mark the start of a poetry revolution in the town.

Mathew-Paul Yamfam (left), a 25-year-old tutor and poet who is also known as the 'Mighty Poet' is trying to build a 'conscious love' of the spoken word in Luton.

X Marks The Spot will feature seven spoken word artists and three musicians showcasing their ability to use language to explore 'thought provoking concepts' and 'challenging ideas'. It follows a similar event earlier this year which Mathew says was a 'hit'.

When did his love of poetry begin? Mathew says: "I got involved in poetry four years ago through wanting to express myself on paper and it started as me doing spoken word and writing things down as an outlet. Someone heard one of my pieces and said I had to let other people hear it."

"So I did a performance in Lewsey Farm and at that event there was someone from the US Air Force and he invited me to perform at the base in Lakenheath, and then it went from there."

Among the places Mathew has performed at is the Granadian and Nigerian embassies and at various events in London. As he works in London, he says he ends up spending a lot of time in the capital performing and enjoying the 'buzz' surrounding the poetry scene.

Mathew says: "I want to bring an alternative night out where you are not having to go clubbing and it's more a conscious thing where people come to listen to others and hopefully it resonates with them."

"I have seen it in London and I am always performing there so I'm trying to bring that sort of buzz to Luton. It does not always have to be about going out and partying. This event can actually be a party for the mind, if you like."

Mathew says he admires the way the Bear Club has put Luton on the jazz map and he is hoping to emulate that with his poetry events.

He adds: "We are trying to bring something fresh and new to the town, like what the Bear Club is doing. At the first event a well-known spoken word artist called Suli Breaks, who is a very good friend of mine, came down to support us."

"He went on stage and gave an amazing performance and when people found out about it after, they were talking about it."

"These are the things we are trying to do and bring to life."

MUSIC

Melodic themes, driving grooves

APRIL is another busy month for jazz at the Bear Club with a host of acts lined up to swing the night away.

Kicking things off on Friday local fusion band Mantrata, featuring 33 Records owner Paul Jolly on saxophone.

Mantrata (pictured top) bill themselves as a 'unique, eclectic fusion band inspired by the ethnic musics of the Eastern Mediterranean, the Near East and Africa as well as jazz pioneers such as John Coltrane'.

They've promised to lay down some melodic themes and driving grooves as the basis for 'exciting and inventive improvisations'.

Also appearing at the Bear this month is British soul and jazz singer Noel McKoy, an artist who has recorded, performed and toured with acts such as Kool & the Gang, Gladys Knight, Womack & Womack and Stevie Wonder.

Noel will be visiting Luton as part of an event by Focus on Jazz and Confluence. He will be accompanied by the Peter Honegan Band and joined by Luton singer Cheryl Lucas, Starpoint FM DJ Paul Goldsmith and host Lee Drummond.

Also make sure to keep an eye out this month for Mark Harrison (April 16), The Last Chance Ragtime Band (April 22) and US-based singer-songwriter David Ramirez.

PROPERTY TALK

>with NIGEL LEWIS

Ab Fab Dolly's adorable flat

ACTRESS Dora Bryan forged a 70-year career on the stage and screen, starting out playing ditzy blondes and moving onto dotty old ladies.

In old age she popped up both in Victoria Wood's sitcom Dinnerladies as well as Thora Hird's sister Aunt Ros Utterthwaite in Last of the Summer Wine. She also had a memorable turn in Ab Fab as June Whitfield's on-screen friend Dolly.

It's easy to forget that she was a respected actress early on, winning a BAFTA best actress award for her performance in the film A Taste Of Honey. Bryan, who died in 2014 aged 91, was once Britain's highest-paid showbusiness star, even counting Noël Coward, among her ardent fans.

During one break from performing, she concentrated on running a hotel in Brighton, which she later converted into a block of flats, returning to pantomime when she and her family were almost bankrupt and she needed the money.

The hotel in Marine Parade on Brighton's seafront, was used as an exterior location in the films Carry On Girls and Carry On at Your Convenience. Although she was forced to sell most of it during hard times, Bryan kept a flat on the first floor for years.

The ground floor studio flat of the Grade II listed building is now up for sale at £275,000. With sea views, it would make a great party pad or rental property, according to the agent. It also has high ceilings and a small but perfectly formed sleeping area with built in storage.

A beauty on the beach

IF YOU do like to be beside the seaside, these wacky beach huts could be even more of an attraction. They were the winning designs in an international search to find alternatives to the traditional wooden boxes found along the British coast.

A group of students with learning difficulties designed one of the winning entries - a hut clad in ceramic tiles - while four others were dreamt up by professional architects from around the world. All five 64sq ft designs will be built along Eastbourne seafront near the town's pier later this summer. Some will be used for beachfront kiosks, while others will be rented out to beach-goers.

The council currently has 87 huts and 69 brick-built chalets and plans to build another 20 traditional beach huts. It lets its large beach huts out for £800 a year, while the brick-built chalets cost residents nearly £3,000.

But the cost of cosying up on the beach elsewhere in the country in a bijou hut could have you choking on your Mr Whippy. Last year, one on remote Mudeford Spit in Christchurch, Dorset, went up for sale at £250,000. With just 138sq ft of accommodation, it had a fitted kitchen, although no running water, and could sleep six.

And a one-bedroom wooden beach shack in Seasalter, Whitstable, had an eye-watering £225,000 price tag. While it had great views of the bay towards the Isle of Sheppey, across Seasalter Marshes and the surrounding countryside, the new owner could only use it for 11 months of the year.

Would Pooh bear a Stone?

A rock star sacked by the Rolling Stones for being out of control and a young child dreamily dropping sticks off a bridge with his teddy bear.

You might think they had nothing in common, but these two iconic British figures both lived at this idyllic country pile.

Stones drummer Brian Jones and Christopher Robin Milne, aka Christopher Robin, have also left their mark on Cotchford Farm. The pool where 27-year-old Jones drowned in 1969 while under the influence of drink and drugs is still here, along with the panes of coloured glass he installed inside the house, while there's a statue in the garden of Christopher Robin and a sundial with the engraving: "This warm and sunny spot belongs to Pooh, And here he wonders what it's time to do."

Milne's father, Pooh creator AA Milne, bought the property in 1924 as a country retreat for his family, who lived here for more than 30 years. Fourteen years later, Jones planned to use it as a country retreat and started doing renovation work, but died a few months after buying it.

The 16th-century Grade II listed country house close to Ashdown Forest in East Sussex is set in 9.5 acres, with the 100 Acre Wood and Pooh Sticks bridge just down the road.

With six bedrooms and four reception rooms it has loads of original features - exposed timbers and beams, oak framed windows, and flagstone and polished brick flooring. There's also a grand oak panelled dining room, with gardens, paddock, and woodland. It's on the market for £1.895m.

TV castle much loved by Kevin

THEY say an Englishman's home is his castle, and for Francis Shaw it is certainly true.

The architect first came across his would-be house as a schoolboy during a summer holiday and found it again 30 years later when the ancient monument was in terminal decline. After 60 years of dereliction, the ground floor was filled with 12 feet of rubble, 40ft trees were growing inside it and virtually everything, except the walls, had gone.

Shaw decided to fulfil a boyhood ambition of living in a castle, so he and wife Karen forked out £100,000 for the moss-covered ruin in 2004. Their bold, budget-busting restoration took more than two years and another £720,000 to resurrect it – but won the admiration of TV's Kevin McCloud.

Peel Castle at Hellfield near Skipton in Yorkshire started life as a wooden Saxon hall house, while the main house dates from the 1300s, and was built by one of the last Templar Knights, Sir John Harcourt.

All the Shaw's hard work paid off, as when it featured on Channel 4's Grand Designs show in 2007 and again in 2009, presenter McCloud declared it one of this favourite projects.

It's got grand reception rooms, dining room, dining kitchen, study, seven bedrooms, eight bathrooms and a penthouse apartment. It also boasts a ground source heat pump, which means the castle is fuel efficient and not reliant on oil.

The Shaws have run their eco-friendly castle as a successful boutique B&B in recent years, but have now decided to up-sticks, so it could be yours for £1.65m.

An ideal home for a Foxey lady?

THE Jimi Hendrix Experience's high octane stage act, with the dentally dextrous Hendrix setting his guitar on fire, sent audiences wild.

For a few years in the late '60s, the band enjoyed sell-out tours and frantic recording sessions, creating inventive and inspired music. But despite earning huge amounts of money during their career, rock legend Jimi Hendrix and his bandmates saw very little of it thanks to their unscrupulous manager.

Bass guitarist Noel Redding backed Hendrix on his 1967 debut album Are You Experienced, and for ten years kept a detailed business diary that included schedules of every place the group played. He fell out with Hendrix and left the band in 1970 but never enjoyed the same success – not helped by his drug addiction. He spent a lot of his later years trying to get his fair share of royalties; in 1974 Redding signed away any future royalties from the famous group for $100,000 and complained that he even had to sell the bass guitar he famously used for $16,000.

He retired to Ireland and died aged 57 in 2003 but Redding, who was from Folkestone, once lived in Tudor Cottage Aldington, Kent.

The detached five-bedroom property – on the market for £845,000 – was built in 1927, boasts a spacious reception hall with brick fireplace and beamed ceiling with three separate reception rooms including a sitting room with beamed ceiling and wood burning stove.

On the first floor, the master bedroom has a dressing area and en-suite shower room with under-floor heating.

Savvy mum made obscene amount of money selling husband's old stuff!

Mum of three secretly sold all of her husband's stuff that he had been hoarding from before they were even married, cleaned out the loft and garage. When she broke the news to him, he was slightly upset, but he soon cheered up when she told him she had used the money to book a belated honeymoon they had been promising each other.

MOTORINGNEWS

VW Beetle's rugged revamp

The Volkswagen Beetle is renowned as an automotive style icon with, perhaps, the most well-known silhouette of any modern car.

Original Beetles have been modified in small numbers over the years to suit specialist drivers' requirements.

Now the spirit of those original conversions is rekindled in the modern range with the UK showroom debut of the exciting new Beetle Dune.

Engineered and styled to pay tribute to those off-road heroes, and with a ride height raised 10mm compared with the standard car, the Beetle Dune is designed to offer a vibrant new dimension to the existing line-up.

Available to order now, the Dune's rugged looks are enhanced via 18-inch 'Mythos' alloy wheels, front and rear wheelarch extensions and bold new bumper designs.

Customers have a choice of Coupe or Cabriolet versions and deliveries of both will begin in June, while a selection of five body colours complement the car's eye-catching styling. Parts of the dash and door panels also share the exterior body colour.

The generously equipped Dune is based on the existing Beetle's Design trim level which means a comprehensive selection of technology and creature comforts as standard.

Among the highlights is the Composition Media system which includes 6.5-inch touch-screen with Bluetooth telephone connection, DAB digital radio receiver, dash-mounted single CD player, MDI (Multi Device Interface) via USB connection, SMS messaging functionality and eight speakers.

Standard-fit technology also includes a Light and Sight pack comprising auto dimming rear-view mirror, automatic headlights and rain sensing wipers, while convenience is enhanced by ultrasonic parking sensors.

A multifunction leather steering wheel with decorative 'Dune' insert and contrast 'Tumeric' stitching, leather-clad handbrake with contrast stitching and carpet mats continue the Dune's bespoke look. 'Climatic' semi-automatic air conditioning keeps things comfortably cool inside.

Safety is enhanced via ABS

(Anti-lock Braking System) and Electronic Stability Control (ESC) fitted as standard and the Cabriolet has rollover protection. In addition, all have Isofix child seat preparation for two rear child seats, tyre pressure loss indicator and a comprehensive suite of airbags.

The Dune is powered by a choice of two engines - the 1.2-litre petrol TSI or 2.0-litre TDI.

The petrol-engine costs from £21,300 and the diesel version is offered from £23,805.

Kia cee'd

Take a look inside. . .

The second generation Kia cee'd now has more to offer in the Focus and Astra-dominated family hatchback class, thanks to a wider range of engines, higher specifications and a smarter look, both inside and out.

As before, there's a choice of five-door hatch, Sportswagon estate and pro_ cee'd coupe bodystyles and all benefit from better efficiency and refinement. Under the bonnet, the key news here is the introduction of Kia's latest 1.0-litre T-GDI turbo petrol direct injection engine.

Most cee'd buyers though, want a diesel and most will want the more efficient, higher-tech 1.6-litre CRDi unit.

Whether you choose to order this car in five-door hatchback, Sportswagon estate or pro_ cee'd coupe guise, you should feel that in improved second generation form, it certainly looks more purposeful.

At the front, it retains Kia's hallmark 'tiger-nose' grille, along with wraparound headlamps and integrated fog lamps.

Changes include a more angular and wider bumper, with chrome trim around the fog lamps, and a smarter oval-shaped grille mesh. A similar change has been made to the rear of the cee'd, with reshaped bumpers, sporty-looking reflectors and LED lamps.

Inside, the fascia layout remains neat, though there are still rather a lot of buttons. The asymmetric, driver-focused dashboard looks classier, receiving flashes of chrome while the central fascia panel is now finished in a high quality, anti-scratch gloss black for a more premium look. Other chrome highlights have also been added to the cabin.

Out back, as before, there's a boot that's 20 per cent bigger than that of a Ford Focus and 10 per cent bigger than a Volkswagen Golf.

There are family hatch folk who'll want more powerful engines or more dynamic handling than this car can offer. But, we'd suggest, many more will enjoy this improved Kia's sharp looks, impressive quality, class-leading practicality and low running costs.

True, the asking prices may be a little higher than you might expect from a South Korean brand, but don't judge them until you've tried the product, a confident design from a very confident brand.

Introducing The New Mercedes-AMG C 63 Cabriolet

The new C 63 Cabriolet combines an intensive open-air ambience with the AMG V8 engine to create an exhilarating performance experience. The biturbo engine developed in Affalterbach is available in two output ratings with 350 kW (476 hp) or 375 kW (510 hp) and provides performance on a par with a sports car. Flared wheel arches at the front and rear, the wide track and the large wheels underscore the powerful looks. The agile longitudinal and lateral dynamics come courtesy of the sophisticated AMG RIDE CONTROL suspension with adaptive damping adjustment, the rear-axle limited-slip differential and the dynamic engine mounts.

Mazda Debuts New MX-5 With Retractable Hardtop

Mazda has revealed the Mazda MX-5 RF ("retractable fastback") on the eve of the New York International Auto Show. The latest version offers a new dimension of open-top driving fun while at the same time staying true to the purpose of Mazda's previous retractable hardtop MX-5: Making the roadster experience accessible to a broader range of drivers. Featuring fastback styling with a smooth roofline that slopes down to the rear, the MX-5 RF's unique rear roof and retractable back window deliver a distinctive new convertible feeling. The power roof opens and closes with the press of a button while moving at speeds of up to 10km/h, and stows away compactly and efficiently. Despite the sleek design, the MX-5 RF offers the same boot space as the soft-top model. This new version will be available in Europe.

MAZDA3 SPORT BLACK SPECIAL EDITION ON SALE FROM APRIL 2016

Designed to complement the dynamic lines and proportions of the Mazda3, the Brilliant Black Sports Styling Kit contrasts perfectly with both the free-of-charge Soul Red Metallic and Snowflake White Pearlescent paint choices. 25 Years of The Renault Clio

It's 25 years since Renault launched its all-new supermini for the 1990s, the Clio. During the intervening years, and through four successive generations, it has become one of the world's best-loved small cars: from a newly qualified driver's first 'wheels', to a hugely popular and potent track day machine – the Clio has evolved into many guises, taken on many personas, but always with a unique sense of French style, quality and practicality. In the process it has flown high in the sales charts, and even spawned one of the most famous TV advertisements ever made. Over 13 million Clios have been sold around the world since launch – enough to line them all up bonnet-to-boot and circle the globe almost one and a half times – with over 1.2 million sold in the UK.

Fiat Professional Unveils New Talento

FIAT Professional introduces Talento, the new model with a generous load capacity that is the ideal workmate for professionals on city streets and major roads alike thanks to its great versatility and ability to adapt to the most diverse needs of its customers. Its name – Talento – evokes the innate qualities of the vehicle and the concept of traditional FIAT Professional value and dependability by making reference to the name of an ancient coin – the Talent (Talento in Italian). The moniker has high symbolic value and suggests what the vehicle can do, its abilities and – in short – its talent.

Life Begins For Fiesta

After an incredible 40 years of being one of Britain's most popular cars, the humble Ford Fiesta will be celebrated in a special birthday display at The International Ford Show, which takes place at Sandown Park, Surrey, on April 30-May 1. Examples of all seven generations of Fiesta, from the earliest Popular and Popular Plus models through to the very latest ST, will form part of a standout display marking the model's anniversary. All types of Fiesta will be included, from showroom condition standard variants to some of the more unusually modified examples, but all with a common theme.

Punching above financial weight

TO the jaded, money is the language of football; that a player's loyalty will only extend as far as his pay cheque and that the teams at the top are exclusively those who have the biggest budget.

While this week's events involving those associated with FIFA president Gianni Infantino (he's been in charge for five weeks by the way), show that it has the power to corrupt off the pitch, this season's action on it has shown it isn't the be all and end all.

One of the more amusing things I've heard this week was a minority of Tottenham fans claiming Leicester City have bought their success, with the Foxes looking set to thwart their dreams of winning a first league title in 55 years.

While it's true they have a wealthy owner in Thai billionaire Vichai Srivaddhanaprabha (try say-

Wright on SPORT

matt.wright@
lsnmedia.co.uk

mattywright36

ing that name after a few jars), it's worth pointing out that Spurs' Erik Lamela cost more than the whole of Leicester's starting line-up from last week.

The reason why everyone is getting so caught up in Leicester's story is that it's the sort we all thought was a thing of the past.

We looked at how teams like Ipswich Town and Nottingham Forest came from the second tier to win the league title in next to no time and thought 'that will never happen again.'

Yet here we are with the Foxes seven points clear at the top of the Premier League ahead of today's match at Sunderland and the best bit is, instances of minnows punching above their weight are occurring in the Football League as well.

The way things are going, Burton Albion v Newcastle United will be a Championship fixture next season, just seven years after four divisions separated them.

When Burton embarked on their first-ever season in League One in August, survival may have been the first thought on the minds of their supporters in their 6,900 capacity home, the Pirelli Stadium.

But with eight points separating the Brewers from third place, they could be just six games away from competing one level below the top flight.

RAPID RISE: Could Burton Albion be facing Aston Villa and Newcastle in the Championship next season?

Should they leave League One behind, fans of Coventry, Sheffield United and Bolton could be set for a culture shock should Accrington Stanley find their way there. Accrington are used to fighting against the odds – they are 'the club that wouldn't die' after all – with one of the lowest budgets in the Football League and facilities at the Crown Ground politely described as basic.

But they're pushing for automatic promotion from League Two and if they, Leicester and Burton all seal the deal, it would complete a hat-trick of miracles for the underdogs.

Reynolds made to wait for next bout

BOXING

ENGLISH middleweight champion Jordan Reynolds was due to be fighting at the Oxford Sports and Social Club this weekend as part of the qualification process to go to the England Boxing Elite Championship Finals at the Echo Arena in Liverpool at the end of the month.

However, two no-shows at the weigh-in yesterday afternoon led to his bout, against an unconfirmed opponent, being cancelled and Reynolds (pictured) will now fight for his berth in St Albans next Friday instead.

Since winning his middle-weight title against Dan Wolegate at the York Hall, Bethnal Green last December, Reynolds has won the King of the Ring boxing tournament in Sweden, successfully defended his title against Harry Scarf at the Chiltern Hotel in Luton, won whilst representing England in Denmark and spent a fortnight training at Floyd Mayweather's gym in Las Vegas.

"In Vegas, they gave me a couple of rounds with some random lad to prove myself, and I smashed him," said Reynolds.

"Then some of the pros asked me to come down, I spent time sparring with Kevin Newman, James Degale and George Groves. I've been sparring with Conrad Cummings and John Ryder, all top-class, and I've more than held my own."

Fighting at 75kg, the 20-year-old Lutonian has no concerns regarding who he faces on his way to the final in Liverpool on Sunday, May 1.

Reynolds said: "Felix Cash and Ben Whittaker are both very good, both team GB, but I should be sweet with them if I'm honest. It'll be a 50-50 fight – whoever doesn't turn up on the day will lose, it's one of those."

Reynolds looks in fantastic shape, and is putting in the road miles alongside the hours in the gym.

"I've been doing three six-minute miles, get that done early," he said, "up at five, and then the gym session at lunch time – tomorrow I've got a morning and evening session, I like to keep busy".

"He does work hard," said Reynolds' coach Sab Leo. "To be honest I like to keep a bit of a hold of him, otherwise he'd be doing even more."

Dunstable fall to defeat at home

FOOTBALL

TWO second half goals saw Dunstable Town defeated at home by Cirencester Town.

The Evo Stik Southern Premier League clash got off to an open start, with both sides enjoying plenty of the ball but with neither team able to create any clear cut changes.

Soon after the restart, the visitors got the opener through captain Matt Liddiard.

Youngster Ollie Knight whipped the ball in from a corner which the skipper converted with a header in at the far post with 48 minutes gone.

The game was put to bed in the 83rd minute with Liddiard finding the net again.

He completed his brace again from a corner, driving in a low ball.

Elsewhere, in the Evo Stik Southern League Division One Central, Barton Rovers also fell 2-0 at home, against Kings Langley.

A goal either side of half time did the damage, with Immanuelson Duku opening the scoring with nine minutes gone.

The visitors then put the game to bed late on when David Hutton scored Kings Langley's second.

In the Spartan South Midlands Premier Division, AFC Dunstable kept their good form running when they won 3-0 at Sun Postal Sports.

First half goals from BJ Christie and Jermaine Hall set the visitors on their way, before Christie netted his second in the 91st minute, with Jake Kissiedu assisting.

FOOTBALL

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE

sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

NATHAN Jones admitted that his Luton side have fallen away "with a whimper" in their bid to force a late League Two play-off push after they slumped a 2-0 defeat to promotion-chasing Accrington Stanley.

It was only a fortnight ago that they won 1-0 at Plymouth Argyle and hope was high of charge for the top seven, but that momentum has been killed off with three defeats on the spin, in which they have failed to score in their last two.

They slipped nine points off the pace after Scott Brown and Terry Gornell goals saw them off and raised Accrington into the top three and while, mathematically, Town can still reach the play-offs, realistically, they are a long way off.

Jones (pictured) said: "We had a brief spell where we won a few home games on the trot and three or four games ago we said [it was] a great opportunity to do something this year and we've just fallen away. We've fallen away with a whimper, that's the disappointing thing. We have a soft underbelly, but those are the things we have to change."

Brown's opener in the 47th minute was similar to a Luton chance Cameron McGeehan missed in the first half, but that was not their worst indiscretion as Josh McQuoid blasted over the bar from a few yards out. Their second half showing was just not up to scratch.

"We should have gone in [at half time] ahead because we had clear-cut chances, four yards out, open goal, we expect you to score that, but Josh has just come back into the team," said Jones, adding: "Jack Marriott was clean through, Cameron's had an opportunity. They've scored an identical chance from what Cameron had."

Luton have now only managed 14 goals in the last 15 games but, worryingly, have failed to score in the first half for the last nine home games.

Jones said: "At times we look an excellent team. At times we really look fluent, but unless you finish off chances, unless you have that real killer instinct, that killer edge, then you're not going to win games. We're always susceptible to the sucker punch, which we've done with on the last three games."

"They've been used to, this season, losing games and being lacklustre, but that will change. That has to change. We've tried to change the style of how they play but there's no point having a good style if we don't defend well. It's basic things which we've got to do better."

Goalless Town fall flat

FOOTBALL

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE
sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

LUTON TOWN 0
ACCRINGTON STANLEY 2

WITH the Grand National marking the country's biggest day for a flutter, you could bet the shirt off your back that Luton would fail to score in the first half at home and then capitulate if Accrington Stanley had the temerity to take the lead. They followed the form book to the letter.

For nine consecutive games and 405 long minutes at Kenilworth Road the Hatters faithful have had nothing to cheer before the break, but that pales in comparison to their lack of ability to turn things around after an opposition side has taken the lead. In under a fortnight's time it will be two full calendar years.

Scott Brown's opener, two minutes into the second period, was all too easy and came laden with an air of inevitability that this, for the umpteenth time, was not going to be Luton's day. Terry Gornell's 85th minute header merely rubber-stamped the point, while another was starkly exposed – Town just can't score goals.

That's none in the last three home games and a paltry 14 in the last 15 so it was perhaps no surprise that after 10 minutes played that Josh McQuoid squandered their best gift, skying over the bar from close range after goalkeeper Ross Etheridge had pushed Jack Marriott's shot into the striker's path.

And again, like last week, they fluffed their lines in general when those they aspire to, higher up the League Two table, dropped points. Wycombe are realistically the only team that Town have the faintest hope of catching to make the play-offs – thought let's be honest, that's a mission marked 'miracle' – and they got a late equaliser at basement boys York. The gap to success has now stretched to an impenetrable nine points.

Mathematically at least, the Hatters can still break the top seven but after this display, on top of the Stevenage debacle, the only things they should be planning now is their summer holidays and next season's campaign.

Gone are the hopeful chest beating days at Leyton Orient and Plymouth Argyle. Here, for a second time this term, they were outplayed by Accrington Stanley. Who are they? Exactly – as the famous old TV commercial tagline went. But the Lancastrians are a team who do the simple things well and with this three points they moved into the automatic promotion places. Boss Nathan Jones is still trying to find the same formula at Kenilworth Road.

The fans know it and that is why some of the biggest applause was reserved for the introductions of youth products Frankie Musonda and Zane Banton, the latter for his first appearance since November 9, 2013. It was asking too much for them to have a massive influence on a dull and insipid second half display, but there's a strong case now that they should start on Tuesday when Dagenham & Redbridge come to town.

With little to play for it wouldn't be a bad time to hand professional debuts to some more promising youngsters, with the highly-rated starlet Tyreeq Bakinson top of the list.

While that goalless first half record could reach double figures in mid-week if former boss John Still returns to Kenilworth Road and frustrates his successor, Luton were at their liveliest in the opening 25 minutes.

Marriott was busy and saw one effort, while Pelly Ruddock Mpanzu was comfortably Town's best player, constantly probing and trying to unlock Stanley.

Yet the visitors were not without their moments as a dangerous Sean McConville cross just evaded Gornell and Piero Mingoia, while Elliot Justham – back in goal after loan stopper Jonathan Mitchell was recalled by Derby – stooped low to paw away a dangerously curling Josh Windass volley.

When they did take the lead, Brown's goal was a carbon copy of a Cameron McGeehan first half miss, except the Stanley man tucked his in the bottom corner where Luton's joint top scorer dragged wide. There began 43 long minutes of graft but no craft, from the hosts at least, bar a strong shout for a penalty when Ruddock Mpanzu was the meat in a Stanley sandwich.

There was still time for Accrington to fashion a fabulous second when Gornell rose high to glance in substitute Tarique Fosu's in-swinging cross. This season there's one thing you can bet your bottom dollar on and that's late goals conceded at Kenilworth Road. Not that it mattered, Luton have already fallen long before the final furlong.
